P-Patch Space Available

The Bill Hardman Memorial P-Patch currently has one raised bed available. Great sunny location to garden! A small fee is charged for water use and each gardener is asked to donate a minimum of 10% of their produce to the food bank. If interested, contact Gail Colson, colsongail@yahoo.com

Check out a new book in the library:

Jeffrey Bennett wrote a children's book called The Wizard Who Saved the World. In this book, which appeals visually, he embeds great climate science in the story of Diego's quest to save the world in his imagination. However, Diego also learns what he can do as a real little boy to care for the planet. This is a great way to help your children frame their part in working to care for their earth-home.
